In 1959 Virginia, the lives of two girls on opposite sides of the battle for civil rights will be changed forever

Sarah Dunbar is one of the first black students to attend the previously all-white Jefferson High School. An honors student at her old school, she is put into remedial classes, spit on and tormented daily.

Linda Hairston is the daughter of one of the town's most vocal opponents of school integration. She has been taught all her life that the races should be kept "separate but equal."

Forced to work together on a school project, Sarah and Linda must confront harsh truths about race, power and the fact that they may be falling for one another.

Boldly realistic and emotionally compelling, Lies We Tell Ourselves is a brave and stunning novel about finding truth amid the lies, and finding your voice even when others are determined to silence it.

Ella Norman:

As a student exactly feel bored to reading. If their teacher questioned them to go to the library or to make summary for some publication, they are complained. Just small students that has reading's soul or real their pastime. They just do what the teacher want, like asked to go to the library. They go to there but nothing reading very seriously. Any students feel that reading is not important, boring and can't see colorful pictures on there. Yeah, it is to be complicated. Book is very important in your case. As we know that on this period, many ways to get whatever we would like. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore this Lies We Tell Ourselves (Harlequin Teen) can make you sense more interested to read.
