This book was written for my sisters. Those I have had lunch with, cried with, advised, fought with and loved on. It is also for my sisters I have yet to meet. This is my love letter from our Father and I to you. Our experiences while vast and varied have at least one singular common denominator. From prostitutes to princesses, God loves us and has a place for us. No matter what kind of box society, the church, or our families desire to put us in, we have a life and a love far beyond our greatest imaginings right at our fingertips. I know this because the Bible tells me so. This is my opportunity to share with you what I have learned in the pages of God's Word. Through this book we will take a closer look at what womanhood is to the God who created it. We will explore the lives and circumstances of a few of the women He chose to emphasize in the Bible and apply their lessons to our lives today.
